LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Matters of Minor Moment in and About the City.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Clark Hamilton presented her husband with a fine nine pound boy.

An unknown man had his hand blown off at the Second ward market Saturday morning while handling a big fire-cracker.

The annual meeting of the German Fire Insurance Company will be held next Monday. Nine directors will be elected.

The people living on the South Side are complaining of the number of suspicious characters that go about the alleys and through yards, as if looking for some convenient way to make an entrance to houses.

The case of James Marshall vs. R. C. O'Neill was settled by agreement and the judgment of Squire Fitzpatrick was not annulled as stated in the Intelligencer. The papers were filed in the circuit clerk's office but the case was settled before it got into court.

The Silver Leaf social club will hold its annual picnic at Mozart park next Saturday afternoon and evening and it is expected that the friends of the club will turn out en masse to help them enjoy their annual outing. Their picnics and social affairs are always well attended and genuine enjoyment is never lacking.

A number of boys playing around the Pennsylvania Sand Company's derrick on Water street near Twenty-fourth yesterday morning let the water run out of the boiler of the engine, and started a fire in the furnace. Mr. Joe Hoffmann saw them from the tannery and telephoned for the police who scattered the mischief makers in a hurry.

While returning from the Cameron Fourth of July celebration to his home on Middle Grave creek, Joseph Logeson was badly injured by his horse slipping and falling on him. He was found unconscious and taken to the residence of his uncle, E. P. Harris, where Dr. Covert attended him. His chest was found crushed in a pretty serious manner and his head cut considerably. It is also feared he has sustained internal injuries which may prove fatal.

A message received last night from Prof. D. W. Shaw states that two boys escaped from the reform school at Pruntytown yesterday, and that a reward of 10 will be given for the arrest and detention of each. Their names are Leo Dunbrack and Manford Moore. They came from Randolph and Marion counties. Both are described as being rather large and stout, dark complexion, having red hair and the other black. Dunbrack's arms are both tattooed.

A HORSE THIEF

Captured in Bridgeport Last Evening—He Confesses the Crime.

Last evening in Bridgeport, Officer Stubbs arrested a man who gave his name as J. H. Rankin. The Bridgeport police had received word from Louisville, Ohio, to watch for a man on a horse that was described minutely. The horse that Rankin was riding fitted the description exactly, and the officers thought they had the right man, but they hadn't. Rankin was a horse thief all right, as he confessed to the police, but the horse he stole was taken from the farmer in whose employ he was until he departed suddenly on Saturday afternoon. He had asked the farmer to let him have a horse for the day. The man refused and Rankin proceeded to take the animal anyway. About half-way to Bridgeport, Rankin traded for another horse, which caused him big trouble at Bridgeport. The Louisville thief is still at large, but Rankin is in the Bridgeport jail. He will be sent back to Barnsville.

HE RULED THE ALLEY.

A Colored Man Inspires the Alley C Dialect with Terror—A Woman Jumps Out of a Second Story Window to Escape.

Last evening shortly after 6 o'clock Officer Walker was called to Alley C, where an exciting disturbance was going on. When he got there the officer found a colored man named Richard Mason making trouble with an ugly looking iron bar. The officer placed him under arrest, and had to show his athletic ability in doing so, for the prisoner proceeded to use his weapon on Walker, but the policeman's club came into play and soon brought Mason to terms. Lieutenant Ingram came to Walker's aid and assisted in landing the prisoner.
 Mason's visit to Alley C will not be forgotten in a hurry. He went into Abby Johnson's house and proceeded to slug the madame, but she jumped out of the second story window. He then tore up the stationary washstand, broke windows and played havoc generally.
 He will answer to two charges this morning in police court, disorderly and resisting an officer.

JUDGE BENNETT

Would be Strong were He to Make the Active Canvass

MADE BY OTHER CANDIDATES

For the Democratic gubernatorial nomination—in many counties there is doubt whether he is in the field—Twenty-six counties reported to the Intelligencer Up to Date—Watts Still in the Lead—Ohio County's Vote Uncertain.

The Intelligencer's ballot, printed daily, giving the preference of the delegations from each county of the state to the Democratic nominating convention which meets in Wheeling August 12, is making a decided hit. All over the state the progress of this anti-convention vote is being watched with interest by Democrats and Republicans, particularly the former, and it is said that the attitude of several counties will depend upon the showing of candidates in the Intelligencer's forecast.

The table includes twenty-six counties this morning, nearly one-half of the state. Mr. Watts still leads all other candidates and has the trademark of a winner, but there is yet a month before the convention meets, and many things can happen before that time. The figures:

County	Watts	Der	Smith
Braxton	18	12	18
Brooke	8	6	12
Cabell	2	2	2
Calhoun	10	4	2
Clay	5	3	3
Doddridge	12	12	3
Glinn	12	12	3
Grant	4	non-committal	..
Greenbrier	23	23	..
Hancock	6	3	12
Harrison	12	3	2
Jefferson	22	4	2
Logan-Mingo	15	15	..
Monroe	14	6	9
Pocahontas	9	8	9
Preston	13	7	6
Putnam	14	16	..
Randolph	10	10	10
Summers	16	16	16
Taylor	12	4	4
Upshur	9	..	9
Webster	7	..	7
Wetzel	18	9	4
Wood	20	10	..
Totals	271	188	97

Grant county's four delegates are un-instructed and their preference could not be learned. The Intelligencer's informant says: "Our county Democrats are mixed on all questions and I hardly think they have the courage to spend enough money to go to vote at the convention. They are mostly sound money men."

Braxton county favors free silver. The delegation to the Wheeling convention favors Judge Bennett for governor, but should he not run, Watts will get the delegation.

Efforts made to get a reliable estimate of the way in which Ohio county's delegation will vote on the gubernatorial matter, have been unavailing. In fact, it is not believed the delegation has any particular preference and probably the fifty-eight voters of Ohio will go where the "bosses" think they will do most good in the way of future patronage.

It is apparent that Judge Bennett would be a formidable opponent if he should come out in an active canvass for the nomination. The judge made many friends during his battle against the "bosses" in 92, who would like to see him bear the Democratic standard this year.
